

1.23 Legends of the Superstitions Update #5

Abby: Hello listeners to what is possibly our most exciting update yet! We've got some big news to share with you guys and some developments. But first, as always, I'm Abby, here with Emily, Eve, and Morgan, your Legends of the Superstitions crew.

Eve: Hoo. Raaaay.

Abby: First things first: thanks to our efforts in getting the information out there, an anonymous tipster came forward to the police a few days ago with the information we uncovered about Max Detweiler in Tortilla Flat—

Morgan: Wait, that's how you're spinning this?

Abby: There's nothing to spin.

Eve: The part where M and I went to the police ourselves?

Abby: Is it really safe to be outing yourself as the anonymous tip to the police?

Emily: You guys went to the police?

Morgan: Yeah, we did.

Abby: Again, defeating the point of an anonymous tip. But, that aside, the police are now going to be renewing their efforts for a ground search. Which is amazing and what we were hoping for from the beginning. And they're looking for volunteers, which brings us to our next set of news. Eve, I'll let you take this one.

Eve: Why me?

Abby: Because you're the technical guru and the reason we can do this.

Eve: Fine. Take some portable microphones, a mobile wifi hot spot, and some finagling and you get an in-the-field live stream of us as we take to the wilderness and join the volunteers in their search.

Abby: It's going to be really exciting stuff and a great opportunity.

Eve: And now it sounds like we're taking an assistant night manager job at Wal-Mart.

Emily: I'm feeling very lost in all this.

Eve: Good.

Emily: Make sure you use green envelopes when you send me love notes, it's my favorite color.

Eve: Oh please.

Morgan: Cool it.

Abby: For once we agree.

Eve: Temperature has been dropping rapidly over here kids, might want to get mittens for the remainder of this update.

Abby: We actually don't have much else to discuss since we'll be giving you live updates during the search. I think we've got a couple emails lingering in the mailbag before we sign off.

Eve: Yes indeed. So generic Gmail account #45—

Abby: Okay, at least give them a shout out.

Eve: (sighs) counterstrikemstr45@gmail.com says:

Hey guys!

Love the updates, prayers for Rose! Keeping with the lighter thread while we wait for news though, I was wondering about Abby and Morgan? I know this isn't like a dating show or something but sometimes I swear you guys are great together. Maybe make a spin off YouTube channel or something? Like those British chicks!

Cheers!

Ha. Ha. This is so much fun.

Morgan: Not the time Counter Striker master.

Emily: Uhhh...

Abby: Moving on.

Eve: Just one more outlier, this one is from a yahoo account because they hate themselves korrasami96@yahoo.com says:

Hey guys!

I just want to say all this is what I was so looking for on the internet. Your blogs are super informative, especially Eve's reviews, it's been really helpful for me as a closeted gay teenager—points for moi—I also like that you guys don't shy away from talking about your sexuality. Not that it's anyone's business, but it's awesome that you're comfortable enough to let people like me know I can have such great friends too!

Thanks so much.

(awkward silence)

Abby: Well, we're happy you found us too.

Morgan: We ready to wrap up here?

Abby: Yes, since this is all so painful for you, we can be done.

Morgan: Thank god.

Abby: We've been Abby, Morgan, Emily, and Eve. We apologize for the short update but hopefully after tomorrow we'll have more to share with you, maybe even good news. Stay tuned!